About Neurodiversity Academy

We connect neurodivergent people with education and careers where they are supported, understood, and able to thrive.

Neurodiversity Academy was founded by Will Wheeler and Pratik Bhumkar after recognising a gap between learning organisations that want to support neurodistinct students and the practical knowledge needed to do it well. As a social enterprise, we help bridge that gap — creating more inclusive pathways from education into meaningful work.

Our mission

To connect neurodivergent people with the right education and jobs, where they know they will be supported, understood and given the opportunity to progress in their careers.

Our vision

To set the standard around neurodiversity in higher education and the working environment, allowing neurodivergent people to feel safe and supported while developing in their careers.

Blueprint Career Development has earned the Neurodiversity Academy Endorsed Learning Organisation status — recognising your commitment to inclusive, neurodiversity-aware career education. Displaying this badge proudly signals that commitment to students, employers, and the community.
