Understanding This Profile

This profile is designed to help neurodivergent students make more informed decisions about where to study by highlighting the supports an organisation provides.

Finding the right learning environment can make a significant difference to a student's confidence, learning experience, and success.

In this profile, you can explore:

1. Neurodivergent Student Experience – Feedback from students and parents about their learning experience. Areas of Strength
2. QILT Student Experience Survey Results – National survey data collected by the Australian Government and made publicly available.
3. Nominated Staff and Teachers – Educators recognised by students for supporting neuro-inclusive learning environments.
4. Neurodivergent Student Supports Framework – An overview of the supports and services the organisation offers.

Neurodivergent Student Experience - Top 4 Areas of Strength

1

Higher education providers publish data on student experience and outcomes, including the national QILT (Quality Indicators for Learning and Teaching) Student Experience Survey. This profile combines QILT data with feedback from neurodivergent learners, including both student and parent/carer responses, to provide insight into the learning environment and support provided.

Survey areas include:

1. Overall experience
2. Clear information about support options
3. Adjustments implemented effectively
4. Organisation genuinely supports neurodivergent students
5. Feel safe being open about learning needs
6. Organisation takes the learner's individual needs seriously
7. Communication is clear and responsive

This information supports continuous improvement and ongoing Neuroinclusion Endorsement. Below, we have shared the top four areas of strength based on these results. All areas shown below meet the High performance threshold.

Performance levels:

- Low — below 60%
- Medium — 60–79%
- High — 80%+

Based on 5 total survey responses from students and parents collected over a three-month period.

FAQ

About the Endorsement

How does an organisation become endorsed by Neurodiversity Academy?

Organisations endorsed by Neurodiversity Academy undergo an endorsement assessment to verify their commitment to neuro-inclusive practices.

What criteria are used to assess neuro-inclusive practices?

Strong support from senior leadership is essential to ensure the right culture is in place before beginning a formal assessment.

Can organisations improve their endorsement over time?

Yes, absolutely. Endorsement is not about identifying the "best" organisation. It recognises organisations that are committed to improving their support for neurodivergent learners. While some may not initially meet every requirement, they can grow and strengthen their practices over time through student feedback and continuous improvement.

How often is endorsement reviewed?

Endorsement is reviewed every three months using student feedback. If concerns arise, an earlier review may take place to address issues and support improvement.

About the Platform

How can students use the platform to choose where to study?

Students can use the platform to explore the supports each organisation has in place and review past student ratings. The goal is to help neurodivergent students identify organisations that understand and provide the right supports for their learning journey.

Can parents or carers also provide feedback?

Yes, absolutely. We understand how important it is to find the right place for your child to study, so feedback from parents and carers is vital for the community.

Are endorsed organisations required to maintain their standards?

Yes, this is vital. Regular feedback helps ensure endorsed organisations are delivering the supports they say they provide.

About Student Supports

What types of supports do endorsed organisations provide?

Endorsed organisations may offer a range of supports for neurodivergent students. As these supports can vary between organisations, we encourage students to review each organisation's profile to see what is available.

Do all organisations offer the same supports?

Each organisation is unique and may offer different supports. Reviewing and comparing these can help you find the best fit for your needs.

How do I request support or reasonable adjustments when studying?

If you require support or reasonable adjustments, contact the organisation's student support or support services team. They can discuss your learning needs and help arrange appropriate adjustments.

About Student Feedback

How is student feedback used in the endorsement process?

Student feedback helps organisations maintain their endorsement by ensuring the student experience matches the supports offered and guiding continuous improvement.

Can students share their experiences with endorsed organisations?

Yes, all feedback is shared with the organisation and is anonymous unless you choose to identify yourself.

How is student feedback collected and monitored?

Student feedback is collected through surveys distributed by the endorsed organisation. Neurodiversity Academy monitors the feedback and shares the results with the organisation.

Important Questions

Is endorsement a guarantee that an organisation is perfect?

No. While we aim for every student to have a positive experience, we cannot guarantee that it will always be perfect.

What happens if an organisation stops meeting endorsement standards?

If an organisation no longer meets endorsement standards, their endorsement may be reviewed or removed.
